Desking programme

The basis for any concept, any project scenario and any organisation format. Future-oriented and flexible.

Wherever you're heading.

The supporting rail system underframe then creates the opportunity for multiple configuration possibilities, for desk extensions and for the fitting of accessories.

As you wish.

Decision-makers need a clear picture of how they want things to be. This also applies to the place where the decision is ultimately taken: clarity is the measure of all things.

Taking decisions.

Enabling versatility.

Confirmation mail. Conference call. Like most companies you will probably have a point of convergence for all the activities that you have to handle simultaneously. So it's all the more important that you get the best possible support from your workstation.

Practical by conviction. Convincing practicality. And always exactly where customers need them. It's good to know there really is furniture that makes this come true.

Corporate efficiency.

Some teams of two are self-sufficient. Others know how important external motivation can be: it helps people to collaborate even better than before. And that shows.

Sustaining openness.

How successfully a meeting goes off depends on the setting. Formal, intimate, casual. This is where it helps to have furniture that can be varied to suit different situations.

Successful communication.

Letting you concentrate.

Not all teams need to communicate all of the time: sometimes you need peace and quiet to concentrate on your work. So it's ideal if you can retreat behind a shared storage unit.

Bringing together expertise.

Sometimes the whole is more than just the sum of its individual parts. And sometimes even more again. When gifted people from different backgrounds sit round a table together, the only thing we can predict is that they will produce excellent results!

Demonstrating unity.

We are who we are because we are the way we are. When it comes to building corporate culture, entrepreneurs are more than happy to give a helping hand – for example with a furnishing programme that highlights the factors differentiating their enterprise.

Whatever you want.

ambition storage unit programme

A programme that leaves nothing to be desired: maximum freedom of choice and plenty of scope for individual ideas. Functional and also state of the art. The storage system that gives you practical details in perfection.

ambition mobile pedestal programme

The ambition mobile pedestal programme is characterised by huge variety. Harmonising perfectly with the desking programme aesthetics, the mobile pedestals have highly versatile interiors that let users organise them to suit their individual requirements.
