With “allright” Sedus is launching a universal cantilever chair. Thanks to its balanced design – created by designer Rüdiger Schaack – it has an elegant appearance, impressive ergonomic qualities and looks good in any stylistic setting. The adaptable character of the chair with consistent material thickness of seat, backrest and armrests can be customised by numerous feature options that even include high quality leather upholstery. Three colours each for shell and frame as well as a wide range of selected fabrics also offer an additional design spectrum.
